John Smith, MD, is an Assistant Professor of Pediatric Oncology at XYZ University. His research is on the development and testing of new antibody-based agents for cancer and how these agents can be used in combination with chemotherapy.

Dr. Smith:

Thank you for your interest in the Council of Healthcare Advisors.

To increase your consulting volume with us, we invite you to sign up for days on call through our Advisors On-Call system. You can sign up for any available day(s), excluding weekends, up to Monday, March 31, 2003, providing that your calls are at least 4 Week(s) apart.

Once signing up for a particular day the expectations are that:

801

- You are available to consult from 10am to 8pm Central Time on the day to answer questions our clients (fund managers/analysts) may have on products or services relating to your specialty.
- We share your pager/mobile number with our clients.
- You, or your assistant, respond to their call within 20 minutes.
- You either speak with them at that time or set up a time for later that day to have a discussion.
- You keep track of the name, fund and amount of time spent with each client that calls you; and invoice us within 48 hours for time spent with each.
- You notify us at least 24 hours prior to the day should you not be able to fulfill it.

In return:

- You will be compensated at your hourly rate ($200)
- For each call you can invoice us for 15 minutes minimum (even if call lasts for less time).
- You will get to speak with a diverse group of clients (fund managers/analysts) that will hopefully lead to further consultations for you.

Please go to <http://www.thecouncils.com> to log in and sign up for calls on our Advisor On-Call system.

Advisors-On-Call is a system designed to increase your consulting work volume with us. Once signing up for a particular day on our call schedule the expectations are that you are available from 10am to 8pm ET on that day for clients to contact you directly if they have any questions relating to your practice area. You should respond to their call within 20 minutes and either speak with them at that time or set up a time for later that day to have a discussion. After the call day you invoice us for all time spent with clients.

You have been invited to sign up for days to be on call. Please select the day(s) in the calendar below that you would like to be "On-Call." You can select days up to and including Monday, March 31, 2003, but cannot sign up for days within 4 Week(s) of each other.

Biography: John Smith, RPh, MS, BCNP, FAPhA, is Director of Radiopharmacy and Assistant Professor of Radiology at XYZ University Medical Center. He has expertise in the procurement, compounding, quality control, dispensing and clinical use of radiopharmaceuticals for diagnosis and therapy. His basic science research interests include the use of positron emission tomography (PET) radiopharmaceuticals (e.g. F-18 FDG) as diagnostic tools in the molecular imaging of cancers and other disease processes. Radiopharmaceutical therapy is also an area of significant expertise especially with regard to the use of DrugA (ABC Pharmaceuticals) and DrugB (DEF Corporation), two new radioimmunotherapy agents for treating non-Hodgkins lymphoma. Additional areas of interest include pharmacogenetics, pharmacogenomics and proteomics, technologies that will lead to the identification of new potential PET imaging agents and radiopharmaceutical therapies in the future. Finally, and most recently, Mr. Smith has been a consultant regarding the implementation of current good manufacturing practices (cGMPs) for PET drug production facilities.

<<< MORE ABOUT ADVISORS ON CALL >>> — 2506

Advisors who are on call are available to answer questions that are related to their specialty but may not have detailed knowledge in any particular area. You may contact any Advisor on call, without contacting us first, between 10am and 8pm (their local time). They will respond within 20 minutes and either take your call then, or schedule a time for later in the day to speak to you. You should continue to contact your Gerson Lehrman Group Representative at evan@glgroup.com as usual for consultations on specific topics (you can also just reply to this email).
